Course Description

Strategic Marketing Management is the bedrock foundation for all businesses that strive for success in the marketplace. Hence, this graduate course will provide you with the opportunity to apply relevant marketing knowledge to formulate the marketing plan through a systematic approach. Acting as a manager, class participants must apply these crucial marketing activities while achieving a high level of efficiency that require using minimum firm's resources to attain high outcome. Participants in this class are expected to apply their marketing knowledge in real situations through examples and cases while being mindful of changes in the marketing environment.

As an advanced graduate course, an interactive teaching approach will be applied. Selected topics and chapters will be assigned to groups to prepare and lead class presentation and discussion with the remaining groups. I will act as a discussion leader and moderator of student discussions pertaining to the topics covered in this class. Finally, each group should construct a real marketing plan and will be presenting it to class where a class competition will be held and students will participate in evaluating other group members.

Course Learning Objectives (CLOs)

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

CLO1. Reinforce the concepts of marketing and marketing management

CLO2. Apply marketing tools to evaluate internal and external marketing contexts

CLO3. Analyze and identify marketing activities in support of vision, mission, and strategic objectives

CLO4. Develop marketing plan that integrates the various parts of the marketing mix
